

Tradition and the Unfradifional

Stage 62's 2007-2008 Season

Beloved Broadway treasure

Fiddler on the Roof

Music by Jerry Bock; Lyrics by Sheldon Harnick; Book by Joseph Stein; November 2-4, 9-11, and 16-17, 2007

Tradition! One of Broadway's all-time longest running musicals, fit for the whole family, with an evening of classics like "If I Were a Rich Man," "To Life," "Matchmaker," "Sunrise, Sunset," and more.

Entertaining children's theater

BIGGER THAN LIFE

By Cynthia Mercati; February 8-10 and 15-17, 2008

Some of America's greatest legends — including P.T. Barnum, Annie Oakley, and Pecos Bill — all come to life in this lively, delightful play that will appeal to all ages.

show titles and dates subject to change if necessary*

Classic Victorian comedy

The Importance of Being Earnest

By Oscar Wilde; May 9-11 and 16-18, 2008

Oscar Wilde's classic comedy about love, mischief, and mistaken identities has been called by some the funniest play ever written. Come and see for yourself!

Brilliant, tuneful satire

Urinetown

Music and Lyrics by Mark Hollmann; Book and Lyrics by Greg Kotis; July 17-20 and 24-27, 2008

It's been called "absurdist comedy," but really, it's just one of the best Broadway shows in recent years (terrible title aside)! A water shortage makes a profit-hungry corporation enter to manage the supply. Rebellion is the only answer, entwined with a love story and great tunes.
